 You require 80% to pass this quiz.

☐ False

. The Novice Approach has very limited or no knowledge transgender or gender diverse identities; very limited or no interaction with gender diverse or transgender people; and is interested in learning about different models of working with transgender people. 10

Is the following statement True or False: "LGBTQ Affirmative Practice does not prescribe a particular method of practice. Rather, the model suggests certain heuristic (enabling a person to discover or learn something for themselves) principles as guides for practice. At the heart of the GAP model is an emphasis on a basic theme of social work: unconditional positive regard and acceptance of a client that affirm a client's sense of dignity and worth." 10

The Affirming Therapist has some knowledge of gender diverse identities and refers to clients with correct name and pronouns, has gender affirmative intake documentation, and has developed limited clinical skills through training, consultation, or readings to help a client with initial exploration of their gender. 10
